

Armed Forces to Capco Workshop – 26 May 2017

Capco is a global business and technology consultancy dedicated to the financial services industry. Operating at the forefront of financial services, we deliver market-leading solutions to clients across capital markets, retail banking, wealth and investment management, insurance and finance, and risk and compliance.

Capco has employed a number of service leavers in recent years, all of whom have complemented our team-orientated culture and become an integral part of delivering innovative solutions to the challenges our clients face. For this reason we are actively seeking ambitious service leavers who have already left or are in the process of leaving the forces.

On 26 May 2017, 1-6pm, we will host an interactive workshop at our London office. This workshop will provide:

- An overview of the consulting industry, including the different types of organisations and typical projects
- An insight into the financial services sector
- An introduction to Capco from speakers at all levels of the business
- Examples of current projects and profiles of current employees, including presentations from service leavers about their experience of transitioning from the military to Capco

The workshop is also the starting point for applying for Armed Forces to Capco full time consultant roles, based in London or Edinburgh with intakes starting from August 2017.

Please register for a place at the workshop at the following link.
